Extend Deadline For Tax Payments Until July 1

The Saline County Board of Supervisors in their Saturday meeting voted to extend the deadline for tax payments for a 30-day period and to have 13 instead of 34 polling places in the June judicial election.

The tax payment extension was voted after Maynard Cannon, county treasurer and collector, told the board that he had not yet received the tax books and that considerable extra time would be needed to get the tax statements ready.

He said that although the tax statement forms are already printed and show a June 1 deadline for first installments of real estate and final payment of personal property taxes, that at least 30 more days would be needed.

The board then voted to extend the tax deadline without penalty until July 1 because the statements will be late in getting out.

Reduce Polling Places
Action was taken on reducing the number of polling places to one in each township after a letter was read from State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson declaring that since only three candidates

Jackson, (R. Long Branch) appointed a committee composed of Virgil Ferrell (R, Harrisburg), Howard Patterson (R, Tate) and William Alfred Smith (R, Galatia), shortly before noon to select the board's committees and declared a recess until 1 p. m. while the selections were made. Claude Moore (D, Mountain) asked that an equal number of Republicans and Democrats be placed on the selections group but this was ruled out and the recess declared.

When the committee finished its selections, considerably later than the time called for convening, there was not a quorum present to reopen the meeting.

It was stated that the committee selections will be presented later. Saturday's story on the board organization said there are only three new faces on the board. There are five. Ewell Winkelman and James Land, Harrisburg township Republicans, are new members in addition to Dr. John Slightom, and Grover Dale Fulkerson, Harrisburg Democrats, and Bert Gogue, Brushy Democrat.

Explains Dark Water in Mains

City water users who noticed some dark water coming out of their pipes today had the reason from Amos Doom, superintendent of the city water and sewer department.

Mr. Doom said the big tank on Cherry street had to be drained for some repair work and that there was a break in a main at Walnut and Gum, which both contributed to the dark water.

He said that the water department will be flushing mains all week and this probably will stir up the water to some extent.

Farm Bureau Gets Deed for Building Site

The new office building of the Saline County Farm Bureau will be constructed on a 200 x 100 tract of land in the south part of Harrisburg on property, formerly owned by the Twin County Service Company.

The deed to the property was received by Ersel Vinyard, president of the Saline County Farm Bureau Saturday morning.

Mr. Vinyard stated that after several months of study and consideration of various sites and proposals, the Saline County Farm Bureau Board of Directors had decided on the site of the Twin County Service Co.

"The Twin County Service company and the Illinois Farm Supply are affiliated companies of the County Farm Bureau and Illinois Agriculture association. By placing the Farm Bureau offices adjacent to that of the service company the board feels that it is establishing a convenient service for all who desire the services of both organizations," Mr. Vinyard declared.

The property changed ownership Saturday morning in the offices of the Farm Bureau with the entire membership of the Farm Bureau and representatives of the Twin County Service company present.

H. E. Melton of Eldorado, acting chairman of the Service company, presented the deed to Mr. Vinyard. Representing the Farm Bureau at the presentation were John Small, Brushy township, secretary; Eugene Lamkin, Harrisburg township, treasurer, and A. A. Apple, Stonefort township, member of the building committee.

With Mr. Melton were Gilbert Highlander of Marion, manager of the Twin County Service company, and C. E. Etienne of Eldorado, a member of the board of directors.

Mr. Vinyard declared construction of the modern office building would start as soon as possible.

Former Supervisor Kills Self at Enfield

ENFIELD, Ill. — A former township supervisor was found shot to death this morning in a shed back of his home near here.

White County Coroner Milas Cozart says the shotgun death of Walter C. Miller, 63, was an "apparent suicide."

Authorities said Miller was recently defeated by four votes in a bid for re-election.

Overrule Plea to Quash Garrison Indictments

Selection of Jury Probably Will Start Tomorrow

Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman this morning overruled a motion to quash indictments charging County Clerk Don B. Garrison with embezzlement of $6,400 in county funds and the selection of a jury to hear the trial probably will start in the morning.

Atty. Joe M. Butler, who with Atty. Lloyd Melton are defending Garrison, argued a motion challenging the array of grand jurors that indicted Garrison and which asked the indictments be quashed.

Butler said that grand jurors must be selected by the county board in proportion to the population of the township and argued that the jury was not proportionate.

Judge Zimmerman upheld contentions of State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson that the defendant was not prejudiced by the selection.

Zimmerman said there were two questions involved: 1—Was the defendant's rights in prejudice? and 2—Was there an attempt by the county board to comply with the statutes?

Continue Chamberlain Trial

He said he found grand jurors from all of the townships of the county and that there was an attempt by the board to comply with the statutes. He added that there was no proof of any irregularities in the action of the county board in the selection of the grand jury.

The petit jury, which was on hand this morning, was excused by the judge prior to the arguments. Judge Zimmerman said any general motions to quash the indictments could be heard in the morning before time for the jury.

Atty. D. F. Rumsey appeared with his client, LeRoy Chamberlain, indicted on a murder charge, and asked for a continuance of the trial until September, which was granted when there was no objection by the state's attorney.

May 8 was set by Judge Zimmerman as the date to hear a motion for a citation against Earl Prior of Eldorado, charged with violating a court order prohibiting him from practicing dentistry without a license. He has been brought up a number of times on these charges.

Girl Visiting Here Injured When Hit by Motorbike

Chris, five-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Thompson of Phoenix, Ariz., was injured Saturday night on Jackson street in front of the home of her aunt, Mrs. John Utter, when she was struck by a motorbike ridden by Bobby Joe Karnes, who also suffered injuries. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karnes.

The little girl was kept at the hospital for two hours receiving treatment for cuts and bruises and then was returned to the Commercial hotel, where the family is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. John Thad Gaskins. She was to be X-rayed today.

Chris had just gotten out of a car on the east side of Jackson street and was crossing to the Utter home when hit.

The Karnes boy suffered abrasions and bruises.

Dr. and Mrs. Thompson and Martha Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaskins, arrived here last week from Phoenix for a visit. Mrs. Thompson is a sister of Mr. Gaskins and Mrs. Utter.

Quiet School Elections Held Here Saturday

Galatia Rejects Proposal to Boost High School Tax Rate

Board of education elections Saturday afternoon passed quietly in Harrisburg and most of Saline county, but there were contests for both boards in Galatia and Eldorado.

Also, Galatia rejected a proposal to raise the high school tax rate by a vote of 197 to 139.

In the Harrisburg city schools district L. N. Davenport and Bruce Polk were re-elected without opposition with votes of 112 and 111, respectively.

At the high school, Bert Gaskins, with 93, and Dr. William J. Blackard, with 89, also were re-elected without opposition.

Elected in the Dorrisville District were Carl Mills, with 19 votes, and John Brown, with 18, who also had no opposition.

In Galatia high school district Dr. Thomas H. Weight and John Boyett were elected to the board. Kenneth Malone was the third man running. In the Galatia elementary district, Max Cockrum and Robert Jones were named. Others running were Lloyd Edwards and Wiley Ryan.

Study Loan Program

UMW Supports Aid to Depressed Areas; U. S. Chamber Opposes

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce told Congress today that it is "unnecessary" for the government to set up a special program to aid the nation's economically depressed areas.

But the United Mine Workers Union said the government has "consistently neglected" such chronic unemployment areas while it has been aiding underdeveloped nations and "nations that are not underdeveloped."

Spokesmen for the two groups presented their views in statements prepared for delivery before a Senate Banking subcommittee. The group is studying administration-backed legislation featuring a $3-million-dollar loan program to spur economic recovery in such areas and a Democrat-sponsored bill providing a larger loan program.

"The national chamber does not favor either bill," said Robert P. Lee, chairman of the Connecticut Development Commission and spokesman for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

But Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president, declared that enactment of the Democrat-sponsored bill would be "a step in the right direction." He said 175,000 members of the union are now unemployed with the greatest unemployment centered in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois.

Kennedy also listed other steps which Congress should take to help in coal producing states where the Democratic bill "would be insufficient." He suggested a program of unlimited unemployment compensation benefits.

He also listed quota restrictions on imports of residual fuel oil, a federal coal research program and a national fuels policy as needed to help unemployment among miners.

Muddy May Become County's Wet Spot

MUDDY, Ill. — Muddy is only muddy now, but it may become the only "wet" spot in Saline county after Tuesday's election.

Residents of the village will vote on whether to remain "dry" or to permit sale of alcoholic beverages in a referendum. Saline county now is all "dry."

Incumbent Mayor John Molinarolo's slate of village officers is unopposed in the election.

Includes Former Premier Ousted By King Hussein

Ruler Orders Withdrawal of Syrian Troops

By United Press

Pro-Western Hussein Khalidi succeeded in forming a new government in Jordan today. It included ousted leftist former Premier Suleiman Nabulsi.

The ouster of Nabulsi by young King Hussein last Wednesday set off a domestic crisis in Jordan that threatened to erupt into a new Mideast war.

But Khalidi's success in establishing a new government appeared to be the result of a compromise between the pro-Western policies of King Hussein and the pro-Soviet and pro-Egyptian policies of Nabulsi.

Apparently it eased the domestic crisis in Jordan, although the ultimate outcome of that struggle for power still was not clear.

Shortly before this development, there were these other events in the Mideast:

—Hussein ordered the withdrawal of Syrian troops from Jordan; they entered that country to bolster its defenses at the time of the Israeli invasion of Egypt.

—A Damascus Radio report said Jordan warned Israel that "any act of provocation or aggression" would be met by force; Israel long has coveted the bulge of Jordan territory west of the Jordan River and north of Jerusalem seized in the 1948 war, and it was feared any Syrian military action against Hussein's regime might prompt Israel to move.

Warning to Syria

—The Jerusalem, Israel, Radio reported that the Iraqi government had warned Syria it would take "strict military measures" if Syria intervened in Jordan; King Hussein and Iraq's King Feisal are cousins and allied as members of the Hashemite dynasty with a natural fear of aggression from pro-Soviet Syria.

A Palestinian, Khalidi is a former foreign minister well acquainted with the devious workings of Middle East diplomacy. He comes from the same general area as does Nabulsi and Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, the former army chief of staff, who was ousted by Hussein in solidifying his position Sunday. But he also is regarded as somewhat closer to the King and more moderate in his views.

Syrian President Shukri El-Kuwatly was reported conversing with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt over Hussein's request to withdraw his troops.

Iraqi roving ambassador Dem-louji flew to the Saudi Arabian capital to discuss the Mideast situation and it was understood Iraq and Saudi Arabia had agreed to a hands off policy until the Jordan situation clarifies.

These developments appeared to confirm reports Hussein had gambled on Arab fears of an Israeli attack. Jerusalem dispatches said Israeli public opinion was with Hussein and that there would be "grave consequences" if Hussein lost out.

Egyptian newspapers which backed Nabulsi in his struggle with Hussein were silent today on Hussein's victory. They had called his ouster as premier an "imperialist conspiracy" aimed at Egypt's neutralist bloc.

The Widening Ripples

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The course of the congressional inquiry into organized labor has not run far, but it is already plain that labor's status in the political realm is sharply altered.

The disclosures affecting Dave Beck and other top Teamster officials have not only opened the prospect of new restrictive legislation against labor. They have lessened the chance that any major beneficial legislation can be pushed through.

Strongly pro-labor lawmakers believe that to champion labor proposals at this difficult moment might be to undercut their own position with voters.

So such things as changes in the Taft-Hartley act are not likely to make headway in the near future.
The problem is far broader than the fate of any specific legislation,
as labor leaders themselves appear to understand fully.

Labor's active influence at the polls in 1958 and 1960 could be substantially diminished if the investigations continue to turn up sordid facts of misdeeds by union chiefs.

Even if the disclosures should not produce revulsion among the general public and labor's rank and file, enough has already been laid on the record to make most legislators wary of seeking open union endorsement for election.

Politicians who in the past have vigorously sought labor's support may still want it but may prefer to have it quietly given. There may not be much boasting from the hustings about what candidate Local 100 is backing next time out.

Particularly will candidates want to avoid any suggestion that they are organized labor's captives.

Reports have it that some 400 million dollars annually is employed by racketeers and other unscrupulous union officials in corrupting political figures at various levels of government. No politician who wants to survive will eagerly seek identity with this kind of activity.

Honest labor, like honest business, has as much right to make its weight and influence felt at the polls as any other segment of our society. But it is a hard fact of life that kind of influence can go into eclipse for varying periods when dishonest and irresponsible elements grow too strong. Everybody can suffer from the depredations of the few.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dulles Wants Poles To Get
Wheat From Canada: Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce Didn't Seem To Know Much
About Her Office Furniture;
Democrats Plan Showdown
Over Tennessee Valley Authority.

WASHINGTON.—Though American bins are overflowing with surplus wheat, the State Department has told Polish negotiators bluntly to go to Canada for the wheat they need to feed hungry Poland.

Under the law, Secretary of State Dulles must certify that Poland is a friendly nation before it can be eligible to receive surplus food. This is a debatable point.
Strong argument can be made that the people of Poland are friendly, and even that the government of Poland, though still Communist, wants to be friendly.

Dulles, however, is worried about political reaction at home if he supports the Poles. Yet, at the same time, he doesn't want them to go back empty-handed.

He also knows that other Soviet satellites are eyeing the Polish negotiations in Washington. If the delegation comes home without western aid, it will throw Poland upon Moscow's mercy and probably destroy the present moderate government.

The Poles asked Washington for $300,000,000 in aid. The State Department offered only a tenth of the request — $30,000,000. After prolonged negotiations, the offer was finally raised to $75,000,000.

But, more important than cash,
the Poles need food. They have asked for 1,100,000 bushels of surplus American wheat. They plan to ask Canada for another 300,000 bushels.

Dulles is unwilling, however, to take the political risk. He also doesn't want to turn the Poles down publicly, because this might offend Polish-American voters in this country. Therefore he would like the Polish delegation — as quietly as possible — to fill their food needs in Canada.

TRUTH-SEEKER ROONEY

Getting at the truth in a city where denials are as frequent as April showers is sometimes difficult. However, Congressman John Rooney of Brooklyn, Democrat, is one who believes in tracking down the truth.

When Clare Boothe Luce, glamorous ex-ambassador to Italy, appeared before his Appropriations subcommittee earlier in the year and complained that the American embassy in Rome lacked office equipment and had only three or four good stenographers, Rooney decided to find out if the lady was telling the truth. So he proceeded to cross-examine Deputy Undersecretary Loy Henderson,
assistant Secretary Burke Elbrick, Paul Tenney, State Department
executive officer, and William A.
Root, budget officer.

Here is how he went at trying
to ascertain the truth:

Rooney—I believe the lady said
something about not having an electric typewriter, did she not?
How many do you have in Rome?
Tenney—We have 16 electric typewriters in Rome.

Rooney—How many dictaphones?

Tenney—Eighteen, I believe.
Rooney—I believe the lady said
she had to bring her personal dictaphone to Rome, did she not?

Tenney—I believe that is correct.
Elbrick—I believe she said the dictaphone she used was her own.

Rooney—Yes, and at that point
we had 18 dictaphones there in Rome. Besides you had electric typewriters at four of the posts
which were within her jurisdiction
—additional electric typewriters.

Tenney—That is correct.

Rooney—How many competent rapid-dictation secretaries did you have in her establishment, that huge place we maintain in Rome,
known as the Palazzo Margherita?

Tenney—We do not have the exact number, but it is approximately 25 - 24, or around that number.

Rooney—As the head of the mission were those at her disposal to move around as she saw fit?

Tenney—She certainly could have moved them around to any place there was a need for them in the embassy.

Rooney—And within her discretion?

Tenney—That is correct.

SELLING TVA SHORT

Democratic senators are quietly preparing for a showdown with President Eisenhower over the Tennessee Valley Authority, which he once described as "creeping socialism."

The Democrats charge that like has done his best to cripple TVA and siphon its profits to the private power companies. The Eisenhower administration tried to starve TVA of funds, then signed the Dixon-Yates deal to introduce a private power combine into the TVA area, then appointed an Army officer, Gen. Herbert Vogel, who is opposed to public power, as chairman of TVA.

When he took office, Gen. Vogel specifically swore to uphold the principles of TVA. The law explicitly requires that the three-man board must support the purposes and philosophy of TVA.
They are also supposed to be non-political.

When Vogel was confirmed as TVA chairman, Alabama's Sen.
Lister Hill questioned him carefully on this point.

"As you go down there as a member of the TVA board, may we look to you to stand up and fight for TVA?" demanded Hill.

"You may, sir," pledged Vogel.

"Of course, when I speak of fighting for TVA," explained Hill.
"I mean fighting for the purposes and the philosophy and the provisions of the TVA act, and all that that means in the institution of TVA."

"I have so subscribed," Vogel
swore.

The Democrats claim he has gone back on his word, violated his oath of office, and they intend to force a showdown with Eisenhower on the whole TVA issue
when he appoints a new board member this month.

Before the Senate Public Works committee will confirm the new member, the Democrats plan to scrutinize every portion of the administration's anti-TVA activities.

Teddy Nadler Takes 9-Month Leave from Job

TV Quiz Winner
Can't Afford
Extra Earnings

ST. LOUIS — Theodore Nad-ler, the St. Louis stock clerk who earned $152,000 in a television program, has settled down to a life of leisure on a nine-month leave of absence from his job because he "can't afford" the $2,000 he would earn.

"That extra money would put me in a higher income tax bracket,"
said the man who this week paid $29,000 as part of his 1957 federal income tax. He figures the tax on winnings totals $81,000.

The sum represents more than Nadler earned in 16 years at his $70-a-week job with the U. S.
Army records center here.

Leisure time is something he never had. But he plans no study.
He has no library. He won't listen to records. He does not own a musical instrument, never learned to play one.

"I didn't have time," he said.
"I've been working since I was 12-years-old."

Nadler, who calls his memory
"supernatural," said he did all the studying he wants to do before he started to work.

He said "I got disgusted in study. I couldn't talk to anybody about it."

No Help With Homework

The second-highest money winner among television quiz contestants lived much of his early life in a children's home. Bother-reads books, mostly biographies.
He remembers every line, as his quiz opponents, including six professors, well know.

Unafraid of the country's best brains, Nadler admitted he is leery of his sons' teachers, so he seldom helps the three boys with homework.

"I only know 11 categories," he said. "If I can I will help the boys, but all I can take is 11 categories because I didn't go to school long enough."

Mrs. Nadler said she hoped her husband now would have time to learn his way around their $15,000
five-room brick house purchased in December with part of his winnings.

"He may have a photographic mind," she said, "but I still have to tell him where to put things."

Nadler called the house "a bottomless pit" that has eaten up $22,000 in purchase price and furnishings. His money-saving habits are unchanged. He still saves trading eagle stamps.

Queried about a reported appointment with movie producer Mike Todd, Nadler admitted he once "had an appointment" but never saw Todd. He added that he has received "hundreds of job offers" but he wants to remain here.

Galatia Junior Class to Present Three-Act Comedy, 'Calm Yourself'

The Junior class of the Galatia
high school will present "Calm Yourself," a three-act comedy,
Tuesday, April 16, at 7:30 p. m.
"Calm Yourself" is a story about the Smithie family.

Mrs. Fred Smithie (Wanda Foster) who has social ambitions, invites Harold Ainsworth, (Don Wickham) a famous interior decorator, for a weekend under the impression he is an old admirer
of hers from the old home town.

Hoping for a quiet time, he accepts and for a time tries to carry out the deception. Then Fred Smithie, (Delmar Karnes) the husband with many ailments, decides to live up the party by having Harold make love to the various members of the household, playing up his passion for checker games as a reward.

All goes well until Harold actually falls for Barbara Hanson (Jo Gene Anderson), an attractive groom, who is one of the guests.

Complications begin and are further involved by the arrival of Lucy Smithie's (Maxine Downey)

boy friend, Jack Bird (Sammy Abney), who wishes to elope with her.

The evening's activities are helped along by Mrs. George Wonder (Mary Adkisson), and her social tail-light of a husband, (Richard Stevens), who never gets a chance to say a single word as long as she is there to say it for him. He does crash through with the keynote comment on the whole proceeding, but not until Mrs. Smithie is driven to fainting hysterics.

Lucy is believed kidnapped, her boy friend nearly thrown into jail as a notorious criminal by Hank Webster (Don Clarida), a limb of the law.

Harold gets his face slapped,
Fred shoots himself with a shotgun and general confusion reigns.
Evans (Letha Jackson), the maid, is thoroughly confused and the cuckoo clock on the wall enters into the spirit of the occasion and speaks for itself.

The entire insane jumble makes for a hilarious evening's entertainment for the audience and a panic of laughs at the expense of the players.

Strange Apology

Gentle and polite, the Riangs
tribesmen of southeastern East Pakistan express apology by sticking out their tongues. This is a means of saying: "I have no words in my mouth which can say how sorry I am."

The shark is the largest true
fish.

LOST -- 22 POUNDS

"In less than two months I have lost 22 pounds — and I am feeling like a different person," writes Mrs. L. F. Marberry, 230 North Fourth Street, Paducah, Ky. "It is the best way to lose weight I have ever found."

Mrs. Marberry took Bulkette Tablets before meals in order to add harmless bulk to her diet and also to keep her from being hungry between meals.

With bulk in your stomach, your appetite is curbed... you automatically eat less... lose weight naturally and safely. Yes, Bulkette Tablets are absolutely safe to use — and best of all,
they will not cause you to be nervous. Money-back if FIRST

Governor May Swing Ax

Bills Introduced in Assembly Ask Half Million for Commissions

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY

United Press Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Bills have been introduced in the General Assembly to appropriate well over half a million dollars to create commissions to study inflation, juvenile delinquency, strip mining and a whole range of other subjects.

There is even one bill for a commission to be given $25,000 to look for possible new sources of money for the state.

Some members commented after Gov. William G. Stratton's budget message last week that he would have to swing a "meat ax" against legislative attempts to fatten his budget.

Since the governor in the past has allowed the Legislature only about $200,000 for study commissions, it seems certain he will get in a few licks with the meat ax on the more than half a million dollars worth of commission bills already introduced this year.

More than 30 such bills have already been introduced this session, not including the governor's own proposal for a permanent state crime investigating commission which would get a $200,000 appropriation.

Report to 1959 Session

Without doubt there will be many more such bills introduced before the session ends. Last session more than 100 commission bills calling for more than a million dollars in appropriations were introduced, and 55 of them were passed. Many, however, were vetoed.

Appropriations attached to the commission bills already introduced this session range from $2,000 for a study of adoption laws and practices to $75,000 for a study of the problems of state government.

In most cases the commissions would make their studies between legislative sessions and report to the 1959 Legislature. The appropriations are to pay travel, meals and other expenses for the commission members, to print their report and so on.

Some of the commissions have permanent status, such as the $15,000 pension laws commission. Others are reaching for near permanent status, such as the commission on problems of the aging and aged which included in its recommendations a bill to re-create itself, with another $15,000 appropriation.

There are bills in for at least three commissions that would be given $50,000 each. They would study public utility rates in Illinois; the problems of local governmental services in the northeastern metropolitan area of Cook, Du Page, Kane, Lake, Will and McHenry counties; and the administration of justice in Illinois.

Study Many Things

This last commission, to be named the Judicial Advisory Council, would be made up of retired judges.

The list of proposed $25,000 commissions includes studies of the problems of county governments, the problems of city and village governments, workmen's compensation and occupational diseases, the Chicago Transit Authority, and a commission to find and hire an artist to paint portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas for the House chambers.

The list of $15,000 commissions includes proposed studies of the sale and consumption of alcoholic liquors, shipping of animals into and out of the state, juvenile delinquency, the medical practice law, the automobile insurance business, and the possibilities for issuing motor vehicle licenses on a county basis.

There are bills for $10,000 commissions to study inflation, future highway needs, and the problems of returning strip mine lands to productive use.

Other commission bills would provide $30,000 for a study of the public aid program, $12,500 for a commission to promote development of a Mississippi scenic parkway, and $20,000 for a study of drainage and storm water problems.

Get It to Post Office

Deadline at Midnight for Income Taxpayers to File Returns

WASHINGTON (UP)—The tax collector is supposed to have your return in hand by midnight tonight. But Uncle Sam will count you in safe this year if you get it as far as the post office by that deadline.

The mail situation being as it is today, that's about all anyone could ask of the nation's 60 million taxpayers.

Technically the law requires yearly income tax returns to be in the office of the director of internal revenue, or his regional directors, by midnight April 15. An Internal Revenue Service spokesman said, however, it has been the practice in recent years to accept all returns without penalty that are postmarked not later than midnight.

Otherwise those failing to make the midnight deadline would have to pay 5 per cent interest a month on the money they owe, starting Tuesday. Willful evasion of taxes, of course, is another matter and subjects a tax dodger to possible criminal prosecution.

The spokesman said postal officials have assured the Internal Revenue Service that despite the postal curbs, all mail reaching post offices today will be postmarked before the midnight deadline.

Tax officials said returns have been coming in at a good rate up to now—better than last year at this time—with about two-thirds of an estimated 60 million returns already in the hands of district tax officers.

They said the remaining 30 to 35 per cent of returns pile in during the last four or five days before the April 15 deadline, with the big surge flooding the mails on the final day—today.

Boy, 15, Kills Grandmother

ALTON, Ill. (UP)—A distraught boy stabbed his grandmother to death because she scolded him for not fixing the furnace, police charged today.

Authorities said Charles McFarlane, 15, called early Sunday and told police he had stabbed his grandmother, Mrs. Velma McFarlane, 51, with a butcher knife while she was asleep.

The boy was kneeling over his grandmother when police arrived. Mrs. McFarlane died en route to a hospital.

Assistant State's Attorney Merle Bassett said the boy told him in a statement that he and his grandmother argued about the furnace Saturday night. After returning from the basement, the youth was quoted as saying, his grandmother scolded him.

The boy told police he went to bed, but after spending several sleepless hours, he went to the kitchen, picked up a knife and entered his grandmother's room where he stabbed her in the chest. McFarlane, whose parents are divorced, had spent most of his life with his grandmother.

The boy was held in city jail on a murder complaint signed by Bassett.

Family of Five Burns to Death In Auto Crash

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (UP)—A Los Angeles family of five was burned to death Sunday in a flaming automobile crash eight miles north of here.

California Highway Patrol officers said the dead were David L. Nieto, 33; his wife, Leonore, 29; and their three children, Andrea, 5; Arturo, 10 months and David Jr., 2.

Officers said Nieto apparently had slowed down because of a flat tire and his car was struck from behind by another vehicle. The car carrying the family immediately burst into flames and spun into a ditch.

The victims were trapped when the gas tank of their car exploded. Their bodies were burned beyond recognition.

The driver of the second car, James Edward Dringenberg, 18, of Anaheim, Calif., and a passenger, Donald Wayne Voght, 19, of El Monte, Calif., escaped with minor injuries.

Injuries Fatal to Louis Lane, Former Eldorado Resident

Mr. Lane was an employee of the steel mills in Gary at the time of his death.

Sentenced for Slaying Singer

PORT HURON, Mich. (UP)—Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane today sentenced Roger L. Fetting, 38, to 5 to 15 years in prison for killing his wife's ballad-singing lover, and recommended mental treatment for the slayer.

On Jan. 9 Fetting fired three shots into Lonnie Barron, 24, guitar-strumming hillbilly singer from Richton, Miss., who was a feminine idol with many love affairs in eastern Michigan and southwestern Ontario.

Barron, known as "The Mississippi Farm Boy," had taunted Fetting in his roadside shack where he said he made love to Mrs. Fetting and Fetting's sister.

AF Major's Wife Kills Son, Slashes Daughter, Herself

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Mrs. Jessie E. Hockensmith, 37, wife of an Air Force major, went berserk Sunday and stabbed to death her 12-year-old son and wounded her 10-year-old daughter and herself.

Fatally injured in the slayings was William A. Hockensmith Jr., 12.

Mrs. Hockensmith and her daughter, Jo Carol, 10, were reported in "fair" condition at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton.

Another son, Hadley, 8, fled to the safety of a neighbor's home. Maj. William Hockensmith, 37, the father, stationed at the Dayton Depot, said he was upstairs when he heard one of the children scream. He ran downstairs and found his son dead, and his daughter and wife wounded.

He could give no reason for his wife's action.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Daughters of the American Revolution, boasting a record-high membership of over 184,000, rallied here today for the opening of their week-long 66th annual Continental Congress.

The congress opens tonight in Constitution Hall with the traditional colorful entrance parade of the new president general, Mrs. Frederic A. Groves, Cape Girardeau, Mo., and her national officers.

Mrs. Groves, elected last year for a three-year term, will be presiding over her first congress.

Some 4,000 members are expected to attend this year's meeting. They will elect seven new vice presidents general, hear addresses by key government officials, and get reports on DAR activities of the past year.

Sandbag Broken Levee on Wabash At Keensburg

KEENSBURG, Ill. (UP)—More than 150 residents along the Wabash River here worked four hours Sunday to sandbag a broken levee that endangered their homes.

A hole, about six feet in diameter, believed to have been caused by a burrowing animal, had allowed the swollen Wabash to pour through the levee.

Threatened with evacuation of their homes by the rising water, the volunteers responded to an emergency call and filled sandbags to plug the gap in the retaining wall.

Funeral Tuesday at Johnston City for Edgar Allen, 39

His wife, and two small sons, his father, John Allen, Pittsburg, and a brother, Randall, who has resided with their father since the death of his mother, Alice Allen, 10 years ago, brothers, Arthur, Pittsburg, Herbert, Carbondale, and a sister, Mrs. Herman Cline, Pittsburg, survive.

His funeral will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the Wilson and Frick Funeral Home. Burial will be at Lake View cemetery east of Johnston City.

Little Damage To Peach Crop by Cold Weather

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Four straight nights of sub-freezing weather apparently have not done too much damage to the southern Illinois peach crop.

Harold Hartley, Carbondale, executive secretary of the Illinois Fruit Council, said the freeze provided a thinning job that faced fruit farmers later on.

"It seems from reports I have that most farmers expect almost a full crop," Hartley said. "Some farmers say they have lost from 20 to 30 per cent of the blossoms that were out."

Strawberry growers in the Centuria area said there were not enough blossoms out to cause any concern, according to Hartley. The total crop is not expected to be affected, but may be delayed about a week in some areas.

Hartley doubted the freeze will have much effect on apple trees which are not yet in full bloom.

Watches Helplessly As Bride, Pilot Die in Plane Crash

MARATHON, Fla. (UP)—A Miami man watched helplessly Sunday night as a light plane crashed and burned, killing his bride of two weeks and the pilot.

Buddy Young said his wife, Lavergne, 27, had arranged for pilot Thurman Riley, 44, of Miami, to "buzz" low over the lodge where the Youngs work as a signal for him to meet them at the airport.

The plane hit a high-voltage cable, slammed to the ground and burned. Mrs. Young and Riley were killed instantly.

Also scheduled to appear in Williamson County Court at Marion today was Amos A. Curry, the licensee of the tavern, charged with possession of gambling equipment.

Major Flood in Area Danger Ends

Rivers rose in some areas of southern Illinois and dropped in others today, but the danger of a major flood has vanished.

The Ohio River rose almost a foot Sunday night at Rosiclare in Hardin county. Water from Willow Creek at Rosiclare was being pumped from an impoundment area into the Ohio River.

Ferries at Cave-in-Rock and Elizabethtown in Hardin county were shut down by high waters.

At Carmi, where 50 families were driven from their homes, the Little Wabash River dropped about three inches.

Lee to Quit As Herrin Coach

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Coach Earl Lee, who directed the Herrin Tigers to their first Illinois state high school basketball championship, plans to resign and seek a better paying coaching post.

Lee, 31, said Sunday he will resign as head coach of Herrin even though he was offered a $300 boost in coaching salary and a $350 increase in his teachers salary.

The youthful coach, who guided the Tigers through a 33-2 season to capture the 1957 state prep cage title, said the increase offers were "not sufficient."

Lee said he regretted the necessity to seek another position, but felt that family obligations required that he get a better paying job. The Herrin coach, whose team beat undefeated Collinsville in the final game of the state basketball tourney, said that although other Illinois schools had put out feelers to him, he had made no definite commitment and was still "open to offers."

Cardinals Option Little to Omaha

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals reduced their roster to 28 players today when they optioned pitchers Don Liddle and Roy Mabe to Omaha in the American Assn.

Leonard Wins At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Canadian pro Stan Leonard, who says he "usually chokes" when he's the last-round leader, is $2,000 richer today because he ignored the pressure and won the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Leonard, who never before had won an American tournament, came from behind to take top money with a four-round total of 276 while third-day leaders Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., and Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C., faltered fast on the last day.

Second place money of $1,500 went to barrel-shaped Mike Sou-chak of Grossinger, N. Y., who found his putting touch but lost his tee control on the last three holes and finished with a 279.

Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Boros tied for third, picking up $1,100 with 280s. Al Besselink carded a 281 for fifth and Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N. Y., and Ford, the Masters champion, tied for sixth with 282s and $775 apiece.

Merchants to Play League Ball This Summer

The Harrisburg Merchants baseball team will play league baseball this summer. The Merchants entered the league last week at a meeting held at Norris City last Thursday night. The league will consist of teams mostly from the oil field region, with Cline being the farthest team north and Harrisburg the southernmost team.

League play for the locals will open May 5 with Norris City furnishing the opposition on the VFW field.

The locals played a practice game yesterday afternoon against some of the youths who are trying out for the local Coal Belt team.

Jimmy Givens, Tooter Yates and Zan Hefner hurled for the Coal Belt team and Bill McNew, Ray Tonazzi and Don Stout for the Merchants. Herb Parks got the longest hit for the youngsters, a double. Gully, Toya Dallas and Logsdon collected two or more hits. Romonosky, Hay, Alexander, Sisky, Yates, Miller and Givens also played besides the players already mentioned.

Practice will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. for the Coal Belt team and at 4 p. m. for the Merchants.

Pirates Win Grapefruit L. Championship

By United Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates are champions of the 1957 Grapefruit Circuit.

Despite their 4-3 loss to Detroit Sunday, Bobby Bragan's crew finished the spring with a record of 20 victories and 10 defeats against major league opposition. Jim Finggan's two-run homer provided the Pirates' margin of victory in Sunday's game at Charleston, W. Va.

Cleveland topped the American League clubs with a 19-14 record after nipping Milwaukee, 5-4, at Milwaukee. Al Smith's three-run homer was the key blow for the Indians.

Brooklyn, which finished last among National League teams with a 16-17 slate, wound up its exhibition season with a 2-1 victory over the Yankees at Yankee Stadium. Southpaw Johnny Podres was credited with the triumph.

Bill Taylor's two-run homer in the 11th inning powered the Giants to a 6-5 victory over the Orioles at Baltimore, Md., while the Phillies defeated the Red Sox, 4-2, at Boston with southpaw Curt Simmons receiving credit for the triumph.

The Cubs swept their two-game city series with the White Sox, beating the American Leaguers, 4-1, on a combined three-hit effort by Tom Poholsky, Dave Hillman and Vito Valentini.

The Cardinals and Athletics split a doubleheader at St. Louis, with the Redbirds taking the opener, 7-3, and Kansas City winning the nightcap, 1-0.

Cincinnati wound up its training season with a 4-2 victory over Louisville of the American Assn. while Richmond of the International League crushed the Washington Senators, 12-4.

Eisenhower to Toss First Ball

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington has its once-a-year moment of baseball glory today.

For the pennant-starved nation's capital, that moment comes this afternoon when the President of the United States throws out the ceremonial first ball inaugurating the 1957 major league season.

President Eisenhower, a right-hander, will be performing the honorary chore for the fifth straight year from the presidential box behind first base.

"Relievers" to Start

This will be the signal for a pair of 100-1 shots—the Washington Senators and Baltimore Orioles—to undertake what for them appears a futile quest for the American League pennant. They delegated the coveted starting assignment to two erstwhile relief pitchers, Bob Chakales (4-4) for Washington, and Skinny Brown (9-7) for Baltimore.

The other major league teams open their season Tuesday.

More than 27,000 persons, including most of the government's top brass, were set to watch Eisenhower carry forward a custom established in 1912 by another Republican president, William Howard Taft, who threw out the first "first ball."

Celtics Win Pro Championship

BOSTON (AP)—The world champion Boston Celtics tonight begin an exhibition tour through the Midwest to display the talent that won for them the National Basketball Association championship.

The Celtics, still exultant over their thrilling 125-123 seventh game victory over the St. Louis Hawks here Saturday counted honors galore today.

Guards Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman were named Sunday night to the NBA's All-Star team for 1956-57. Tommy Heinsohn was selected as rookie of the year. Each of the trio receives a $200 check with the accolade.

The Celtics furnished Boston with its first world championship team in 16 years.

Cousy, who averaged 22 points throughout the seven playoff games and broke the single game assist record, received the most votes in the All-Star balloting by sportswriters and sportscasters.

Heinsohn rammed a total of 37 points through the nets in the final double overtime exhauster at Boston Gardens Saturday. Another Celtics rookie, Frank Ramsey, racked up 10 points in the overtime alone to insure the Celtics' first championship.

Choisser to Preside As Racing Steward At Chicago Area Tracks

Judge Ralph W. Choisser leaves for Chicago today where he will remain until Nov. 15. He will act as the presiding steward, representing the Illinois Racing board at all of the thoroughbred horse race tracks in the Chicago area.

Select Rookies Most Likely to Succeed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Outfielder Tony Kubek of the New York Yankees and shortstop Andre Rodgers of the New York Giants were chosen today by the Sporting News as the rookies most likely to succeed this year.

Irish Varsity Beats Old Timers

CHICAGO (AP)—Notre Dame won't use a true split-T offense next fall due to the lack of quarterback personnel to make it work, Coach Terry Brennan declared today.

"We'll have the split in the line," he said, "but we won't have real split-T plays for the backfield. We won't be able to run the option like we did with Paul Hornung, but we'll try and run it differently."

"We'll hook the end and work the option on the deep man outside him. We didn't even have the option for the oldtimers' game or a lot of other offense. Not even a screen pass."

Brennan used quarterbacks Bob Williams and George Izo most of the time Saturday when the Irish varsity romped to a 43-14 triumph over the Old Timers. Brennan was satisfied with the passing of both men, but believed they lacked the experience and running ability to run the split-T as Hornung did in the past.

Despite the limited selection of plays, the varsity gained 348 yards rushing and completed seven of 14 passes over a combination of 1956 reserves, sophomores and five former first-stringers. Hornung, Jim Morse, Neil Norden, Ray Lemek and Jim Mense.

Bull Dogs 10th In Mineral Area Track, Field Meet

Harrisburg's track men scored a total of 9 1-2 points to take tenth place in the Mineral Area Track and Field meet at Hurst-Bush Saturday.

Centralia took top honors in the meet in which twenty-seven schools participated.

Bill Yates scored 8 points for the Bull Dogs with two second place finishes. Yates was second to Flemming of Mt. Vernon in the 100-yard dash and second to Britton of West Frankfort in the 220-yard dash. Harrisburg's other points were scored by the 'freshman relay team of Larry Wise, Larry Conrad, Roger Aldridge and LeRoy Steinsultz, who tied for fourth.

Eldorado scored five points in the meet when Leonard Willis led the milers, covering the distance in 4:45.8.

Next big track meet is the West Frankfort Relays scheduled for Saturday, April 20.

There are as many as 750,000 tiny air cells in an ordinary bottle cork.

14 Aged Persons Die in Fire

POINTE AUX TREMBLES, Que.—Fourteen aged men and women were burned to death when a flash electrical fire destroyed a 200-year-old nursing home, officials said today.

Police Chief J. L. Delorme said a painstaking search of the ruins of the converted mansion failed to turn up any more bodies from Saturday night's blaze.

Thirteen bodies of the elderly inmates were removed today. One resident died of burns in a hospital. Three others reported missing were believed to have escaped or were not in the building at the time of the fire.

Police said the fire began in the home's electric wiring at the point where the power lines entered the building and crackled to all parts of the 18-room Madame Jean Henry Rest Home in this Montreal suburb.

Death came so quickly that none of the trapped inmates was heard to cry out. The roof caved in minutes after firemen arrived and the building blazed for five hours before the flames were brought under control.

Thirteen of the guests, ranging in age from 55 to over 80, managed to escape the flames. Police said all of them were downstairs, watching television, when the fire broke out.

Most of the dead, some of them partially paralyzed, were trapped

In The Longhorn, Jagger called the manager, Blake, to one side. "Where can I get in touch with Wild Jack Mason? Did he tell you where he was headed for when he left here?"

"He didn't tell anyone. He snuck out of town the minute he turned in his star." Blake shrugged. "Somebody said somethin' about seein' him in K.C. a while ago. He was hanging around Chief Speer's place, giving shooting demonstrations." Blake shook his head. "He's a fancy man with a gun. Probably the best in the country."

Jagger turned away from Blake and went to the door. As he went out, he passed a man coming in, a cowboy by his clothing, a gaunt, unshaven man.

Jagger was outside before he realized that the man was Tom Alder and turning, he went back into the saloon.

Alder was already at the bar. Jagger went up to him and said, "Haven't seen you around lately."

"Just came in from Texas with General Simcoe. He's gone to the hotel to see if his daughter's got there yet."

"She's here," Jagger said briefly. Then: "Something I'd like to talk to you about in private, Alder. I wonder if you could come over to the hotel in a few minutes. I'll be up in my room. Room three. Come right up and we'll have a talk."

"I'd like to have a talk with you," said Alder. "I'd like it a lot."

There was no one in the lobby but the night clerk and Alder, giving the man a careless glance, went up the stairs. He found room three and knocked on the door.

Jagger opened the door, stepped aside for Alder to enter, then closed the door.

"I won't beat about the bush," Jagger said bluntly. "You're the right man for the job I'm about to propose to you. You've killed your man. That's what I want you to do now—kill a man!"

Alder showed no change of expression. "Who's the man you want killed?"

"I'll tell you when you agree to the job."

The faintest hint of a sardonic smile curled the left side of Alder's mouth. "Mr. Jagger," he said, "that's a very interesting little proposition. And I like the way you made it. Of course you wouldn't come right out like that with anyone else. Kill a man for me. But I'm a safe man to talk to like that. I'm a former Missouri bushwhacker. I'm a killer. A fugitive who can't go home. The Union Army posted a reward for me. But the Yankee government in Washington passed a general amnesty bill this summer. Even us downright die-hard guerillas can come in now. We're no outlaws any more. I can go right back to Ray County, Mo., and show my face on the street."

"I'm willing to pay you — enough."

"Mr. Jagger, you haven't talked to me more than to say hello in the several times I've been in Pawnee City. You don't know me."

"I know all about you," Jagger said harshly. "Morgan, my former partner, told me quite a lot about you."

Alder continued in a low, even tone. "Guess where I've been since last November, when I pulled out of here?" He smiled thinly. "I made some money here. Enough to do a little traveling. I even had a little piece to slip a politician in Washington city, to get some information that I wanted."

"Washington?" exclaimed Jagger, startled.

"That's where the War Department is. Your—our—Yankee War Department. They keep some awfully good records there, all the battles, all the skirmishes, the names and rank of everyone. You served in the 16th Illinois Cavalry, Mr. Jagger. A sergeant, weren't you?"

"You didn't have to go to Washington to hear that," Jagger said irritably. "You could have learned that right here in Pawnee City."

"Oh, I knew it before I went to Washington. You and Sergeant Morgan were both in the 16th and you were both in a little rear-guard fight down in Texas round about June 22, 1865. . . . when our bunch was headed for Mexico. You whopped our boys back there and it bothered us a lot, later on. You got our supplies. . . . and $25,000 in gold coin that Shelby was counting on."

He paused and Jagger scowled at him. "Wait a minute, Alder. I know what you're driving at. Morgan told me. You've an idea that it was Morgan and I who got that gold. . . . that it's the money we used to build this town."

"That's right."

"Suppose I said that we did come out of the army with, say, $25,000? That wouldn't prove a thing."

"No, it wouldn't because the army never had a report of anyone picking up $25,000 down in Texas. The funny part of it is, that along about five months ago, General Sheridan got $25,000. It was in greenbacks, but the patriotic citizen who sent it didn't sign his name to the note that came with the money. The note just said that it was some money the sender had captured while serving with the army, that he wanted to make things right."

Jagger looked sharply at Alder. "You're lying!"

"Don't call me a liar, Mr. Jagger," said Alder softly. "There's just one more thing I haven't told you. That the Johnny Reb who was guarding that gold was my brother, Jim Alder."

Baptist Churches Entertain Students At Carbondale

Carbondale Baptist churches gave a Junior-Senior class party last night for high school students at Carbondale. Held at Grant City Park, the program began at 8:30 p. m. with dinner in the lodge dining room, followed by a full program lasting until 1 p. m.

Four of those taking part in the program were from Harrisburg: Miss Susie Grammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Grammer who moved to Carbondale from Harrisburg, was song leader, and also took part with Gordon Tebow in a skit, "Lovers American Style," with Marta Richardson as accompanist.

Oval Heatherly, formerly of Harrisburg, now custodian at the Illinois Baptist building, took pictures of the party for the Illinois Baptist publication and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Porter gave an hour of magical entertainment.

Other musical numbers were included by a quartet from Pinckneyville, and accordionist Barbara Beaty. "Miss Fidella Doolin, also a former resident of Harrisburg, who is employed in the finance department at Southern Illinois University, was program chairman and Mrs. Noel Taylor and a Mrs. Hall were cho-chairman on arrangements and refreshments."
